

MaryAnn Hu's Broadway credits include: Sunday In The Park With George (Starring Jake Gyllenhaal), Lincoln Center's The King and I (Lady Thiang u/s), South Pacific (Bloody Mary u/s) and Miss Saigon. Off-Broadway, she has appeared in The Audience (Transport Group), Falsettoland (NAATCO), at the Signature and the Vineyard. Regional credits include Allegiance (The Old Globe), La Jolla Playhouse's comedy Tiger Style! (also at O'Neill Theater Conference) and numerous shows at East West Players. Film: Elanore in the indy film Wilde Wedding (2017), DeLoba, Falling for Grace. TV credits: Elementary, Madam Secretary, Nurse Jackie, Law & Order and recurred on the NBC sitcom WHOOP! as SooLin. Ms. Hu studied under Wynn Handman and is a graduate of the Upright Citizens Brigade for Improv Comedy and Sketch Writing. She also performs on the indie-improv scene with Baby Grand: The Improvised Musical and The Picklebacks. Ms. Hu most recently served as solo performance coach on the 2018 National High School Musical Theater Awards, also know as the Jimmy Awards. She is a native Angeleno and proud resident of Marina Del Rey.