International Vocal Competition

Zeffin Quinn Hollis, a 2004 Loren L. Zachary National Vocal Competition winner, has been heard as a principal artist at many of the world's significant opera houses including Dallas Opera, New York City Opera, Long Beach Opera, Chicago Opera Theatre, New Orleans Opera, Santa Fe

Opera, Opera Pacific, Opera Theatre of Pittsburg, Palm Beach Opera, Opera Delaware, Toledo Opera, Hungary's Szeged & Pécs National Theaters, and the Lviv National Theatre (Ukraine). His signature operatic roles include Scarpia (Tosca), Escamillo (Carmen), and Jack Rance (La Fanciulla del West). In addition to playing traditional roles, Mr. Hollis is equally identifiable in the top echelon of new music. He has worked on premieres from composers Jake Heggie, Tobias Picker, Tarik O'Regan; and at NYC Opera's famed VOX festival of new works. This past March and May of 2017, Zeffin played "Roy Disney" in the American Premiere of Philip Glass's The Perfect American. Zeffin also has two international television broadcasts under his belt, (MEZZOTV France) portraying "John Proctor" in the award-winning production of The Crucible and "Maquire" in the European premier of Tobias Picker's Emmeline.
