

Audrey Park, Violin
Culver City Symphony Orchestra
February 16, 2020

16-year old virtuoso violinist Audrey Park, has been praised for her “nice, rich sound [and] excellent rhythmic drive” (violinist.com).

Her solo appearance at the “First Fridays at First!–fff” recital, presented by Classical Crossroads Inc left a glowing review: “Park’s formidable talent will flower in years to come” (laopus.com).

Park has appeared as a soloist with the Santa Clarita Philharmonic, San Fernando Symphony Orchestra, Antelope Valley Symphony Orchestra, Peninsula Symphony, and Curtis YASP Orchestra. She has performed in venues all over the world, such as Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Cremona, Montecatini, and Rome.

Receiving many accolades at numerous competitions, Audrey was the first prize winner of the Great Composers International Music Competition. In addition, she was the winner of the Santa Clarita Concerto Competition, San Fernando Valley Concerto Competition, Gail Newby Concerto Competition, Parness Concerto Competition, Curtis YASP Concerto Competition, and the Edith Knox Performance Competition. She won the WGStill Art Center’s Young Artists Competition and GCC Music Competition receiving scholarship. In addition, she was a top prize winner at Classics Alive Young Artists Auditions, BIMA International Competition, and VOCE state finals. More recently, Audrey was recognized as a 2019 National YoungArts Winner.

She was selected to participate in NPR's nationally syndicated program From the Top, performing at The Conrad Prebys Performing Arts Center and was featured on KHTS AM 1220 Radio News.

As an avid chamber musician, she was a winner of the ENKOR International Music Competition with her Zenith Quartet from Junior Chamber Music. In addition, she won silver at the PCM National Chamber Music Competition and was named a semi-finalist at the Fischhoff National Chamber Music Competition with her Piacere Trio from Pasadena Conservatory of Music.

She has spent her summers traveling to many music festivals. Park was chosen to be one of the ten student artists for the prestigious 2019 Starling-DeLay Symposium at The Juilliard School. She also attended the Young Artist Summer Program at Curtis Institute of Music, Montecito International Music Festival, and Bravo International Music Festival with scholarship and was invited to participate in Ray Chen’s, Glenn Dicterow’s, Cho-Liang Lin’s, and Jan Sloman’s masterclass. Audrey performed with guest artists Hilary Hahn, Gil Shaham, Adele Anthony, Cho-Liang Lin, and Kyoko Takezawa at the La Jolla Music Society Summerfest.

Audrey enjoys teaching violin to individuals, spending time with family/friends, horse-back riding, and skiing/snowboarding.
